NOURISH COMMUNITY FOOD CO-OP

WHAT IS A BUYING CLUB?

A buying club is when regular people pool funds together to buy wholesale products to distribute among themselves. Buying clubs can save everyone involved money, allow access to higher quality goods, and take economic power back from corporate control.

HOW DOES THIS BUYING CLUB WORK?

Nourish Community Co-op's buying club began by distributing groceries to members once a month in September 2025.

We decide as a group what to focus on purchasing, and from where to source our food. Right now we're looking at fruits, vegetables, eggs, and some prepared foods. We plan to expand offerings in the future to include more grocery items and a larger variety of prepared foods.

HOW IS THE BUYING CLUB RELATED TO THE COOPERATIVE?

Nourish Community Co-op is a future multi-stakeholder food co-op in formation. Our goal is to challenge current capitalist, extractive models of food production and distribution that deplete the land and fail to nourish the people by working together to shift power into the hands of workers & community members through ownership and democratic control.

The buying club is an early step in the co-operative formation, allowing us to access high quality, affordable food NOW while building capacity to own and operate a brick-and-mortar space.
